

Connecting to Services at the Opioid Response Hub

220 Simcoe Street will house a broad range of community treatment services that will be offered both in office and out in the community. Staff at 220 Simcoe Street will also help to connect clients to a variety of essential services. This one location will house key community partners that are committed to fostering connections with individuals and help them to access the supports and services that they need. The range of services listed below are only a few of those that will be offered and linked to at 220 Simcoe. An Opioid Response Hub is not just about opioids, but about reducing opioid related harms and investing in community and individual health.

Connecting to Services at the Opioid Response Hub

